

They Stepped Into Immortality

The Stories Behind the World War I Veterans
Listed On The New Liskeard Cenotaph

by André R. Maheu

In André's own words: " It all began on Sunday, November 11th, 2007. This particular Remembrance Day marked the 90th anniversary of the Canadian victory at Vimy Ridge during World War I. It was considered Canadas greatest victory throughout the war and the beginning of its march to nationhood. As I listened to the names it suddenly dawned on me. Who were they? What drove these men to pay the ultimate sacrifice so that I could lead the life I presently did? How did they die? I was not going to get any answers listening to the Honor Roll. I couldn't even get their full names.

The New Liskeard Cenotaph states that the local men who died in WWI Stepped into Immortality, yet we are oblivious to the Cenotaph's existence or the names inscribed on it. We have forgotten how the families of the dead faced the reality of not seeing their loved ones again since most were buried in a strange and foreign land, or worse still, how the survivors felt."

And so began this book.

After years and massive amounts of diligent research, André now has his answers, and has chosen to share them with us.
